3 Dealing in securities

3.1 Summary of Prohibited conduct

The Corporations Act prohibits “insider trading”.

Under the Corporations Act, a person is prohibited from dealing in securities where:

- (a) the person possesses information which is not generally available; and
- (b) that information may have a material effect on the share price of the relevant entity; and
- (c) the person knows or ought reasonably to know that the information is not generally available and if it were it might have a material effect on the share price.

In addition, a person with inside information must not procure another person to deal in Viagold’s securities nor communicate the information (directly or indirectly) to another person who the person believes may deal (or procure someone else to deal) in Viagold’s securities.

The key concepts are discussed in more detail in paragraph 3.2 below.

3.2 Relevant Terms

(a) Securities

The definition of securities in the Corporations Act is very broad.

Securities include:

- ordinary shares;
- preference shares;
- options;
- debentures; and
- convertible notes.

It also extends to things relating to securities issued by Viagold (for example, warrants and other derivative products).

(b) Dealing in Securities

Dealing in securities is a broad concept and covers more than simply buying or selling shares. It extends to exercising options over shares and entering agreements to buy or sell securities.

That is, under this policy and the law, the prohibition on dealing means that you are not permitted to:

- buy or sell;
- subscribe for new shares (eg in a float); or
- enter into an agreement to subscribe for, buy or sell, securities,

For personal use only

where you or Viagold possess information that is not generally available and which a reasonable person would expect to have a material effect on the price or value of those securities.

If you possess price sensitive information that is not generally available, you are also prohibited from:

- procuring any other person to deal in those securities; or
- from directly or indirectly communicating the information to another person who you believe is likely to deal in, or procure another to deal in, those securities.

Procuring means enticing, encouraging, persuading, causing or securing another person to do something. For the purposes of these provisions procuring includes inciting, inducing or encouraging an act or omission.

For example you cannot ask or encourage family members to deal in securities when you possess price sensitive information and you should not communicate price sensitive information.

(c) Information that is generally available

Information is “inside” if it is not generally available but which, if it were generally available, a reasonable person would expect it to have a material effect on the price or value of a security.

Information is considered to be “generally available” if:

- (1) it consists of readily observable matter; or
- (2) it has been made known in a manner likely to bring it to the attention of investors in securities of corporations of that kind and a reasonable period for dissemination of that information has elapsed. That is it has been released to the ASX, published in an Annual Report or prospectus or otherwise been made generally available to the investing public and a reasonable period of time has elapsed after the information has been disseminated in one of these ways; or
- (3) it may be deduced, inferred or concluded from the above.

(d) Material effect of the price of securities

Information is considered by the Corporations Act to be likely to have a material effect on the price or value of securities of a company if the information would, or would be likely to, influence persons who commonly invest in securities in deciding whether or not to subscribe for, buy or sell those securities.

It is not possible to list all of the information that may be material, however, the following type of information would be likely to be considered to have a material effect on Viagold’s share price:

- information regarding a material increase or decrease in Viagold’s financial performance from previous results;
- a proposed material business or asset acquisition or sale;
- the damage or destruction of a material operation of the Group;

- proposed material legal proceedings to be initiated by or against Viagold;
- regulatory action or investigations undertaken by a Government authority;
- the launch of a new business or material new product;
- a proposal to undertake a new issue of shares or major change in financing.

(e) Information

For the purposes of the insider trading provisions of the Corporations Act, information is defined broadly and includes matters of supposition and other matters which are insufficiently definite to warrant being made known to the public. It also includes matters relating to the intentions of a person.

3.3 Relationship to the continuous disclosure regime

The Corporations Act and ASX Listing Rules require Viagold to immediately release to the ASX any information concerning Viagold which may reasonably be expected to have a material effect on the price or value of Viagold's securities, subject to limited exceptions.

As a result of the operation of the continuous disclosure regime, usually all material price sensitive information will be generally available. However, there are limited circumstances in which disclosure is not required. In these situations there may be people with "inside information" who would breach the insider trading prohibition if they dealt in securities at that time.

Specifically, the Listing Rules do not require disclosure where:

- (1) a reasonable person would not expect the information to be disclosed; and
- (2) the information is confidential and the ASX has not formed the view that the information has ceased to be confidential; and
- (3) one or more of the following applies:
 - it would be a breach of law to disclose the information;
 - the information concerns an incomplete proposal or negotiation (eg. Viagold has not yet executed a Heads of Agreement);
 - the information comprises matters of supposition or is insufficiently definite to warrant disclosure (eg. the effect of an event on Viagold has not yet been quantified);
 - the information is generated for internal management purposes of the entity (eg. internal management accounts or an internal management report); or
 - the information is a trade secret.

Although information does not need to be disclosed under the Listing Rules, Employees may possess "inside information". If a person deals in Viagold's securities at a time when that person is aware of information which, but for a carve-out to the Listing Rules, would need to be disclosed to the market, that person will be in breach of the insider trading provisions.

4 Securities in other companies

The prohibited conduct under the Corporations Act includes dealings in securities of Viagold as well as of other companies with which Viagold may be dealing (this would include dealings relating to Viagold's customers or joint venture partners) where an Employee possesses "inside information" in relation to that other company. For example, where you are aware that Viagold is about to sign a major agreement with another company, you should not buy shares in either Viagold or the other company.

5 Register of dealings

The Company Secretary will maintain a copy of:

- (a) all requests for approval to deal in Viagold securities submitted by directors, executives and senior managers;
- (b) all decisions relating to such requests and accompanying reasons for the decision; and
- (c) details of all dealings in Viagold securities made by directors, executives and senior managers.

6 Information to board

The details of each dealing in Viagold securities made by a director, executive or senior manager will be tabled at each subsequent Board meeting.

7 Penalties

A person who commits a breach of the insider trading provisions could be subject to criminal liability (a maximum fine of $220,000 or imprisonment for up to 5 years, or both) or civil liability (a pecuniary penalty of up to $200,000 can be imposed). In addition, a person who contravenes or is involved in a contravention of these provisions may be liable to compensate any person who suffers loss or damage because of the conduct.

In the case of a body corporate, the commission of an offence under the insider trading provisions is punishable by a fine of up to $1,100,000.

8 Defences

The Corporations Act sets out several defences to conduct which would otherwise breach the insider trading prohibition. These defences are complex and, in general, will not apply to you. On this basis, you should not deal in Viagold securities until you have received the required approval from the relevant person in paragraph 2 above.

Breaches of the insider trading laws have serious consequences for both the employee concerned and Viagold. It may also give rise to adverse public scrutiny and media comment. It is therefore important that Employees adhere to these guidelines at all times.

9 Who to contact

If you are in any doubt regarding your proposed dealing in securities you should contact the Company Secretary.
